Washington, D.C. – July 29, 2011 – The Financial Services Roundtable today announced that Crystal Carr of Detroit, MI is a recipient of The Financial Services Roundtable Financial Literacy Scholarship.

Ms. Carr's scholarship was presented to her Renato Jamett, complex manager of the Raymond James Dearborn and Birmingham offices, at the Raymond James' Southfield Center located at 25900 Telegraph Road in Southfield, MI.

“I am honored to be the recipient of The Financial Services Roundtable Financial Literacy Scholarship,” said Crystal Carr. “This scholarship signifies an investment into my future. Because of this scholarship, I will not encounter financial hardships while receiving my undergraduate education; therefore, this aid will allow me to prosper. The prospectus of this investment—a prosperous future. And for that, I am thankful.”

“Raymond James is proud to be involved in helping young people gain financial literacy through a variety of educational programs,” said Jamett. “Hopefully, the financial literacy courses offered today will get our young people thinking about how they can make a positive impact in their personal lives and the lives of others by implementing sound financial management principles.”

The Financial Services Roundtable Financial Literacy Scholarship honors high school seniors who successfully completed a financial literacy course before entering college with a $5,000 scholarship.
